A COLD RECEPTION.

The People of Philippopolis Give the Turks.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.

PHILIPPOLIS, Dec. 3.—The Turkish delegates have arrived in the city. A meeting of citizens was held and the bishop urged them to repudiate the proposal to restore the status quo ante. The Russian agent was present and said the delegates had preceded the European commission and that the sultan's special commissioner was coming to reorganize the organic statutes.

He warned his hearers that if the commission was not received that Turkish troops would enter the country and Russia would refuse assistance to the Roumelians. The meeting, however, declined to accept the commissioner's report on the matter of restoring the status quo ante. The Russian agent then withdrew.

The meeting afterwards sent to the various foreign consuls a copy of the resolution: That the Turkish delegates be requested to postpone the object of their mission and depart for their homes; that the citizens of Philippopolis only acknowledge Sofia, the capital of Bulgaria, as the seat of government.

London, Dec. 3.—Returns received up to 2 o'clock this afternoon shows that 252 liberals, 203 Tories and forty-six nationalists have been elected.

LONDON, December 2.—The counties continue to veer toward the Liberals. In yesterday's polling the Liberals gained 27 and the Conservatives 10 seats. The feature of the elections in Ireland, is the extinction of the Irish Liberals. They have not returned a single member to date.

There have been elected 237 Liberals, 193 Tories and 44 Parnellites.

For the first time since the beginning of the election, there is a likelihood of the Liberals exceeding both the Tories and Parnellites. It is admitted that Saturday's vote will decide the contest.

PANAMA, December 2.—It is said here that General Iglesias surrendered to Caceres at 2 p. m. to-day, and that Senor Eusebio Sanchez has been named provisional president.

LIMA, December 2, 3 p. m.—Everything has been arranged. A commission has been named to take command of the government and to issue orders for the holding of elections. An amnesty for all, has been declared.

MADRID, December 2.—It has been ascertained that king Alfonso died in debt. His expenses for several years have exceeded the amounts allowed him by the civil list.

FIGHTING AT LIMA.

The Revolution Still Raging in the Streets.

By Cable, via Galveston.

LIMA, Dec. 3.—There was severe fighting in the center of the city, between 10 and 11 o'clock last night. This morning an armistice was agreed upon till mid-day. The number killed and wounded is unknown, but not great. Much damage to property resulted. Caciques pulled up all pavements in the neighborhood of Bolivar square and barricaded his troops. He is said to have cannon on the house-tops commanding the palace. The conflicting parties have arrived at a settlement and an agreement has been signed that each one of them is to name members of a commission to elect a provisional president, who shall convocate a general election. This arrangement was brought about by a diplomatic corps, whose good offices were tendered on Sunday and since then has been in demand by both sides.

IT HAS COME.

The Time to Achieve Cuban Independence.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

New York, Dec. 3.—The Herald's Key West special says: Telegrams have been passing to-day between the Washington authorities and the federal officials here relative to the filibustering expedition which it is alleged, has been organized in this place against Cuba.

La Propaganda, a Cuban organ published here, pointedly referred to Alfonso's death and the uprising throughout Spain, and states that the opportune moment has arrived to achieve Cuban independence.

The Polish Church Riots.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

DETROIT, Dec. 3.—There was a cessation of disturbances in the Polish quarter this morning, although the excitement was undiminished. Several thousand women assembled about the church, but no riot followed. The children were dismissed from school in the convent and several hundred of them poured into the street. A crowd of women were crying, "If we cannot have a church we don't want school." Five women arrested yesterday were fined $3 each to-day. Two paid and the others went to jail for thirty days.

A Big Libel Suit.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Mayor Wm. R. Grace has begun a libel suit against Joseph Pulitzer and the New York World for $50,000 damages in the superior court.

The complaint sets forth that Joseph Pulitzer has libeled Mr. Grace in his paper at various times during the last six months.

Farmers in Convention.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

INDIANAPOLIS, December 2.—The farmers of the national congress of the United States met here to-day in annual session, with sixty delegates representing eleven states. The president's address asks for three measures for the benefit of the agricultural interests: The creation of the secretary of agriculture as a government department, the extension of the benefits of the signal service and the suppression of pleuro pneumonia among the cattle of the country. It points out the folly of appropriating millions of money to river and harbor improvements without extending to the agriculturists who comprise fifty-one per cent. of the population, the benefits of a signal service. The congress is a notable one in being composed of a number of the largest and wealthiest planters and farmers of the country.

The National Capital.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—The annual report of General J. D. C. Atkins, commissioner of Indiana affairs, recommends the following policy for the accomplishment, by the government, of Indiana progress and development. It should be industriously and gravely impressed upon them that they must abandon their tribal relations and take lands in severalty, as the corner stone of their complete success in agriculture, which means self support, personal independence and material thrift.

The government should, however, in order to protect them retain the right to their lands, in trust, for twenty-five years or longer, but issue trust patents at once to such Indians as have taken individual holdings. When Indians have taken their lands in severalty and in sufficient quantities (and the number of acres in each holding may and should vary in different localities according to fertility or productiveness, climate and other advantages) then having due regard to the immediate and early future needs of the Indians, the remaining lands of the reservation should be purchased by the government and opened to homestead entry at fifty or seventy-five cents per acre. The money paid by the government for their lands, should be held in trust in five per cent. bonds to be invested as congress may provide, for the education, civilization and material development and advance of the red race, reserving for each tribe its own money. If this policy was adopted systematically by the government it would be strange if in five years from its inauguration and establishment, there should be an Indian of any tribe in the whole country who would refuse to accept so favorable, and advantageous measure.

The report shows that there are in the United States exclusive of Alaska, about 260,000 Indians. The commissioner presents several theories advanced by various individuals and societies as to the wisest manner of dealing with the Indian question, but makes no recommendations save the one given above.

Reports of the Indian agents at the agencies where courts for the trial of Indian offenses have been established, show that they have been entirely successful and in many cases evidently useful.

Referring to the Indian police the commissioner says: To a great extent they have met the necessities of the situation and have proved valuable aids to the Indian agents, in preventing trespassing and robbery by lawless whites, and in suppressing disorder, violence and incipient revolts, among the more restless of their own people. Many instances of surprising fidelity to the trust reposed in them, under circumstances which would savor many a white man from his duty, might be related of the Indian policemen.

NOTES.

A caucus of the Democratic representatives will be held in the hall of the house of representatives on Saturday evening, to select candidates for the national convention to be held at Milwaukee, Wis.

Senator Sherman will preside at the Republican senatorial caucus on Friday.

The president to-day appointed Alfred C. Egerton, to be surveyor of customs for the port of Wheeling, West Virginia.

THE MARKETS.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The stock market was very tame at the opening, first prices showing only slight changes from last night's closing figures. The market continued very dull during the hour and at 11 o'clock was dull and steady. Money nominal at 2@3 per cent. Wheat opened easy and 1/4@1/2 higher, with moderate trading. No. 2 red, December, 94 1/4@94 1/2. Corn, 1/2@1/2 better but less active. Mixed western, 41@56 1/2.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mrs. Patrick McGee Suddenly Expires at Her Home.

Drs. J. T. Bruebach and B. S. Woodworth were lastly summoned to the home of Mrs. Patrick McGee this morning at 10:30 o'clock, but the object of the summons was beyond earthly aid. Mrs. McGee was suddenly stricken ill while about her household duties and without a murmur she dropped to the parlor floor, to die a few moments later in the arms of her daughter. Mrs. McGee was the wife of the late Ex-City Marshal Patrick McGee. She has long suffered from an affection of the brain, but her life has been useful and about her has grown up an estimable family, now sorrow-stricken at the unexpected death of their good mother. Mrs. McGee was dearly beloved and her friends mourn with the grieving family. Her funeral has not been fixed, but will probably occur Sunday. Mrs. McGee leaves six children, who live at the family residence on West Main street. Her only son, Tom McGee, is a clerk in the Pittsburg office.

BADLY BURNED.

Mrs. Larry Markey the Victim of a Severe Accident—Clothes Stolen.

Mrs. Larry Markey, of South Calhoun street, narrowly escaped being burned to death this morning. She was about preparing breakfast when her clothes caught fire from the stove and in a moment the lady was enveloped in flames. Her cries attracted George Markey, the deputy city clerk, who was about to start for his office. He threw shawls and quilts about his mother, stopping the fire, but not till it inflicted painful and almost fatal injuries. Mr. Markey's hands were badly burned and both mother and son are under a physician's care.

To precede this misfortune some one stole $50 worth of clothes from Mr. Markey's line last night and the officers are looking into this theft.

Two of a Kind.

W. F. Richards, the Virginian whose recent romantic marriage to Miss Melissa McCleery occurred at the residence of Mr. John Noll in this city, turns out to be a divorced husband, and probably worse, according to the Cincinnati Telegram.—SENTINEL.

Well, Melissa has a history, too, and the two will be well matched; so don't worry.—Bluffton Chronicle.

The Jeffersonians.

"The Jeffersonian club, of Fort Wayne, was a marked feature of the funeral procession of Mr. Hendricks. The club was 176 strong, each member wearing a silk hat. The Keintz City Band of twenty pieces accompanied them, and the captain and lieutenant were George Finkle and Patrick Ryan. In the line were noticed such citizens as Montgomery Hamilton, Col. Charles Munson, the county attorney and county officials and members of the courts," says the Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Wabash road announces that it will recognize no claims for overcharges on shipments made on and after January 1, 1886, based on special rates issued prior to that date, unless special arrangements were made for their renewal before dates of shipment.

We did not know but that our daughter would die every minute from inflammatory rheumatism. I began giving Athlophores to her. In two days she was around and did not suffer a pain. Mrs. C. W. Brown, 143 Sixth street, Milwaukee, Wis.

Maoney, of this city, to-day laid before the district attorney, the particulars of the seizure of another illicit distillery, four miles from Lamont. The machinery was almost new. About twenty gallons of fine liquor were found. The still, liquor and all other movable effects were seized and taken to Port Huron. Milo B. Humes, Wilson Seaton, James Hayden and James I. Ash, were arrested. Humes owned the farm on which the still was found and his son-in-law, Seaton, lived with him.

A little son of Milton Eix, who was under treatment for curvature of the legs, at Indianapolis, is now at home entirely cured. Mrs. R. C. The company is first class and their business and specialties very funny. There is a big advance sale for the minstrels, who will have a great house.

"That was a swell affair of Smith's," said one man to another on the street cars. "What was it?" was the question. "A boil," said the joker. The swelling could soon have been reduced by St. Jacobs Oil.

A FALL AMUSEMENT.

The Time When a Hamlet Wanted a Fifteen-Foot Arm and Courage.

Nature must have created me with the pump of susceptibility to the blandishments of notoriety fully developed. I have in my time owned a saw-mill without a waterpower, a fast horse that couldn't trot, a saloon without a license, a mortgage without a foundation, a Florida farm under the water, a Western house on paper. Besides this stupendous array, I've backed a pugilist who couldn't fight, I've betted heavily on a bull-dog that turned tail and fled at the first growl of his rival, I've taken my prize pumpkin to the county fair and gazed with envious eyes upon the other fellow's diploma, I've painted pictures that didn't sell, written books that no one read, I've been manager of a base-ball club and ran over for path-master, I've hired a man to weed my garden and he stole all my onion seedlings, I was disappointed in love, but got there, Eli, after the other fellow Canadiated during the financial upheaval of his bank, I've dabbled in stocks, but as a stockdabbler I do not not too my bazon in sen-torious ecstasies. I have all this to answer to when the great book of the world's permanulating failures shall be opened, and Bill Nye, I and two or three other fellows shall be called up to the bar and asked to give an explanation in Choctaw why we got left during the great scramble.

I WENT UP GARRET.

The other day I went up garret to sort out stovepipe for our sitting-room stove.
I was once allowed the benign privilege of applying the first person singular when I wished to mention any of my chattels. I look back on that period of my life as a dream rudely disturbed by gushing wives, soothing-syrup bottles, Easter bonnets and sister-in-law. The proverbial mother-in-law has been my steadfast friend throughout all the trying trials of my married life, such as settling for last winter's coal, paying the cook who kicked when I drew the line at canvass-backed ducks for her cousin; the eagle-eyed policeman who wields the club and is a frequent visitor of my little side door. Yes, I can safely say that my mother-in-law has been my firm friend. My sister-in-law have impoverished me quite. Their fellows spark in my front parlor; they flatten the chair springs, wear out the carpet, rub the paint off the doorstep, and cause my gate to assume the posture of chronic debility.

However, that is neither here nor there—though they're mostly here, so to speak. As I said before, I went up garret to sort out stovepipe for our sitting-room stove. To the man of average patience, or stability and human endurance this might seem to be one of the pleasantest tasks thrown in the way of a male victim of domestic experience. The devil is blacker than he's painted, and Solomon in all his glory is a chromo rival to the tiger lily by the bull frog pond—but the sorting out of a sitting-room section of a stove pipe surpasses the comprehension of mankind, unless you've been there. The neighbors for miles around must have stored their stove pipe in my garret. I never saw such a stupendous conglomeration of Russ and sheet-ironed either with rusty trimmings in all my life.

Outside the yellow leaf, fast turning to russet, was rattling against the dry limbs of the maples. The lordly rooster perched upon the rail fence and clattered his challenge to the weather vane on the horse barn. The drowsy bee was asleep, for the latent sun wasn't so latent as woe it was.
The cowboy didn't throw stones at the puddle frog; the puddle frog, has crawled into his hole and pulled the hole in after him.
In United States honest Injun, the auspicious winter is in the near future, and it's time to erect the five-dollar-a-ton demolisher.
That's why I am up in the garret sorting out stovepipe, my dear. I took a survey of the field and my heart went 'way down stairs, slunk into the cellar and tried to hide among the cobweb-covered bottles. Physically, it would have taken a forty-horse derriek to lift my heart back to its wonted pedestal of pristine courage. Mentally—I am strong on the mental, even if I do wear a thirty-two-inch chest tape when I get measured for a vest—I commenced my vigorous onslaught upon that pile of pipe.
The section I wanted, that is, the first section, was upon the top of the pile, lying up among the rafters. I tried to reach it. I could not. I thought I would step upon the lowest bit of pipe, and, from the elevated position, I could readily reach the desired pipe. I did that; that is, I stepped upon the pipe, but I didn't reach far enough to grasp in a tangible manner the reached-for object. Perhaps, if I had had an arm about fifteen feet long and sufficient courage to back it I might have grasped the pipe as I lay upon my back at the foot of the garret ladder. Bet heavily on your local ball club, go in full swipes on star green, do what you please to tanalyze the game of chance, but a blind pool to a green jap paper weight you don't mount a reclining stove pipe with any degree of success.

I was now determined to get that bit of pipe if it took all fall and part of the winter. I pulled off my coat and crawled up the ladder. Ah! I espied a clothes pole lying on the floor. I took the pole, poked it through the innocent pipe and lifted it up slowly. I once got out of the way of a mad dog; I also managed to escape the headlong dash of a policeman who was trying to reach a couple of men fighting. I never tried to get out of range of a stove-pipe slipping down a clothes-pole before. Believe me, I could say that that pipe struck both hands, barked my fingers, performed a rico-chet movement and stabbed me over the left eye, not forgetting to slice off the lobe of my right ear, and scalping me from "veneration" to "language." With my life's blood oozing from my abused body and nose, I snatched up the two first lengths of pipe handy and backed down the ladder. Now a man will attempt to back down a steep ladder in a narrow passage way, with four feet of rusty stove-pipe under each arm, ought to be shot. I was.

The end of one pipe caught against the round of the ladder, and I was shot clear to the bottom. It was a clean fall, and when I recovered, my wife, my children and my sister-in-law were weeping over me. A man from the stove store put up the stove and pipe. I've come to the conclusion never to sort any more pipe.—H. S.
Keller, in Boston Globe.

CRIMINAL NEGLECT.

An Improvement Whose Construction
Should Be Made Compulsory.

When we reached Toledo I looked at my watch. We had barely ten minutes to get across to the Union Depot and catch the Canada Southern train. It looked like an impossibility, but to an old traveler there is no such word as f. a. l. e. I tossed my boy into the nearest carriage, hurried my sister in after him, ran down the platform like a mad man, tore the checks from my baggage (I always call my room my apartments, the check on my trunk, my checks, and my family physician, my physicians; there is so much embonpoint and coup d'etat in a plural), dragged my trunks to the carriage myself, and shouted to the astonished hackman: "An extra dollar if we catch the Canada Southern!" How that man did drive. Rackety swat over the pavements of Toledo, over a telegraph messenger boy on this corner and within an inch of going over a wheelbarrow at a crossing, but the wheelbarrow, being alone, was more accise than the messenger boy, and so got out of the way. Over the bridge, like an arrow in spite of legal prohibition, down to the Island House and here we are. I thrust the hackman's pay and extra fee into his honest palm, hal the trunks off the carriage before he could touch it and whirled it up to the baggage-room. "Trot!" I yelled. "Lively now—have tickt in min't!" Away I flew to the ticket office, knocking people right and left, followed by the inspiring cheers and pleasant remarks of the multitude. "Tickt, 'Trot!' I shouted to the agent, snatched up my tickt, threw down my money, ran away without my change and found my trunks checked. I seized it by the remaining hand, yanked it off the truck, and hauling my now affrighted family along with the other hand I flew toward the track where the Canada Southern should be standing. But a quiet, grave looking man with a railway uniform on stopped me.

"Where are you doing?" he said quietly.
"Detroit!" I yelled. "G'out of my way,
'r I'll ride ye down."
"But your train is not ready," he said, persuasively. "It doesn't start for nearly an hour yet. You should not get so excited.
The baggage master will take care of that trunk and I will call you when the train is ready. The waiting room is just at that further end of the station."
Any man's watch is liable to run down and stop, but that is no reason why the people who loiter about railway stations should be fools. There is too much broad, glaring publicity about our American railway stations. There should be more privacy, more exclusiveness.

At every railway station where people of the upper classes are liable to be mistreated as to the standard and running time of inactive watches and thus be led into somewhat extravagant action, there should be a long, deep, dark hole about fifteen miles long, extending under the nearest range of mountains for the citizens of the upper classes to retire into until the coarse hilarity of the vulgar crowd should have expended itself.—Burdette, in Brooklyn Eagle.

How many women there are working to-day in various branches of industry—to say nothing of the thousands of patient housewives whose lives are an unceasing round of toil—who are martyrs to those complaints to which the weaker sex is liable. Their tasks are rendered doubly hard and irksome and their lives shortened, yet hard necessity compels them to keep on. To such Dr. Pierce's means of relief. For all female weak-

I have been afflicted with catarrh for 20 years. It became chronic, and there was a constant dropping of mucous matter from the roof of my mouth. It extended to my throat, causing hoarseness and great difficulty in speaking, indeed for years I was not able to speak more than thirty minutes, and often this with great difficulty. I also, to a great extent, lost the sense of hearing in the left ear, and of taste. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm all dropping of mucous has ceased and my voice and hearing has greatly improved.—Jas. W. Davidson, attorney at law, Monmouth, Ill.

settlement of lepers in the British known. It is situated in the western part of Cape Breton, near Lake Ains-lie, the members being natives of the highlands of Scotland.

THE CITY.

John H. Bass returned from St. Louis this morning.

Miss Katie Schilling, of Lafayette, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Aggie Lan.

Fred Tezeder and Aline Koven and Lem. L. Bear and Mary Boyer have been licensed to marry.

A concert by colored jubilee singers will be given in the lecture room of the Baptist church this evening.

Mrs. Woodworth continues to disturb sin at Columbia City. It is singular the Post opposes the trance evangelist.

The state teachers association will convene at Indianapolis, December 29. Superintendent Feltz is arranging half fare rates.

The case of P. A. Randall vs. A. Wolf is on trial before Judge S. R. Alden, who presides temporarily in the circuit court.

Mrs. William Smith, of Pierceton, was in the city a few days this week visiting her nieces Miss Lanie VanVleet, and Mrs. Frank Dildine.

Henry Stell was fined this morning for striking Herbert Haesler. Young Stell is quite handy with his fists and must not be annoyed.

The gas went out all over the city at 5 o'clock this morning. One of the mains broke and enveloped the municipality in darkness as far as gas could go.

Sheriff Nelson and John Corbeley took Thomas McGovern, of Monroeville, to the state insane asylum to-day. McGovern was inclined to be obstreperous.

Jacob Marquardt, a farmer, was arraigned before Justice France for assault and battery and carrying concealed weapons. John Fry made the complaint.

The Miller family, on Fairfield avenue, had a racket among themselves again last night. These are the same parties who were before the mayor for forgery some days ago.

Samuel Miller has been appointed guardian of Martha E. Lucas, a person of unsound mind. The bond is in the sum of $1,600 with Thomas Gorman and Fred C. Boltz as sureties.

The Indianapolis papers ignore the prominent part Fort Wayne exercised in the Hendricks funeral. The Summit City surpassed the state capital in the ranks. This accounts for the silence.

A man, evidently crazy, attracted great attention yesterday afternoon in the west end of the city. Large crowds of children followed and were teasing him, when he drew a knife and threatened them.

Deputy Sheriff Schrader took Billy Miller, a vicious boy, to the reform school at Plainfield to-day. The lad's mother could not control him, but a brief stay at the state school may tame him somewhat.

Lulu Enyart seeks a divorce from Ira Enyart. The man did not provide for his wife and added insult to injury. These tales of domestic trouble are like plays and afford food for people to moralize how many people are ill-mated.

James Newman, of Port Huron, Mich., and Frank Greenwood, of Garrett City, struck up a combination last night and proceeded to calumniate the city. The police ran the visitors in and Mayor Mulder sent them to jail this morning.

None of the city papers have yet mentioned the fact that the city band accompanied the Jeffersonians on their trip to Indianapolis. —Journal.

Read up, young man. THE SENTINEL mentioned the fact last evening and complimented the now famous band.

Hon. Wm. Fleming, Mrs. Fleming and Miss Georgia are at home from Indianapolis. Mrs. A. B. Trentman is the guest of Mrs. Dr. William, at Terre Haute. She will also visit her sister, Miss Celeste Fleming, who is attending a convent near that city.

The Allen County Gun club was organized last night with a membership of fifteen sportsmen. T. S. Heller was chosen president, Charles M. Becker, vice president and Mart Mergel, secretary and treasurer. This society will include the marksmen of the city and see that the game laws are enforced.

The council has virtually accepted the new Seventh ward enginehouse. Messrs. Mike Connors, Conrad Dreibelbiss and Steup have moved to the Seventh ward. The gentlemen will have charge of the new house, which is connected with the central engine rooms and every fire alarm will be sounded simultaneously in both houses.

"It is rumored that T. P. Keator, who ran against Judge Lowry for congress, will resume editorial work in this city. Some say he will take his old position as city editor of the Gazette, while others report that he will purchase the World and conduct that paper as a Sunday society paper. Mr. Keator wields a ready and an interesting pen and his friends will be glad to see him back in newspaper life again," says Frank Dildine in the Warsaw Times.

The Berry Street church folks have an "Irish" social to-night.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Monahan and Mrs. Al Noll have returned from Indianapolis.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Knickerbocker was tendered a reception by the Episcopalians of Huntington this afternoon.

The two oldest daughters of Rev. Kueher, of St. John's Lutheran church, have opened a millinery store on West Jefferson street.

Prof. W. F. Yocum will lecture to the county reading circle, Saturday evening, Dec. 19, if Superintendent Feltz can secure the circuit court room.

Chauncey B. Weigent has been appointed administrator of the estate of John Binkley. Abraham Binkley is surety in the sum of $3,000.

The Geistdorkers will have a trial before Mayor Muhler Saturday afternoon. These people are tenacious and the mayor should put speed into this case.

"Judge Colerick, our ex member of congress, has our thanks for series one, volume fourteen, official record of the war of the rebellion," says the Albion Democrat.

August Reiling, a locksmith of Fort Wayne, was at Huntington the forepart of the week, with a heavy lock which he desires the commissioners to secure for the jail.

Mrs. C. M. Dawson has returned from Cincinnati, where she visited her sister, Miss Georgie Maier, now pursuing her musical studies in that city. Miss Maier will come home for the holidays.

Geo. A. Elwood is on trial at Toledo for burglarizing the home of E. W. Baumgardner. Captain Diehl is interested in the case having discovered in the pawn shops here several articles sold by Elwood.

A COLD RECEPTION.

The People of Philadelphia Give the Turks.

By Cable to THE SENTINEL.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3.—The Turkish delegates have arrived in the city. A meeting of citizens was held and the bishop urged them to repudiate the proposal to restore the status quo ante. The Russian agent was present and said the delegates had preceded the European commission and that the Sultan's special commissioner was coming to reorganize the organic statutes.

He warned his hearers that if the commission was not received that the Turkish troops would enter the country and Russia would refuse assistance to the Roumelians. The meeting, however, declined to accept the commissioner's report on the matter of restoring the status quo ante. The Russian agent then withdrew.

The meeting afterwards sent to the various foreign consuls a copy of the resolution: That the Turkish delegates be requested to postpone the object of their mission and depart for their homes; that the citizens of Philadelphia only acknowledge Sofia, the capital of Bulgaria, as the seat of government.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Returns received up to 2 o'clock this afternoon show that far that 252 Liberals, 203 Tories and forty-six nationalists have been elected.

LONDON, December 2.—The counties continue to veer toward the Liberals. In yesterday's polling the Liberals gained 27 and the Conservatives 10 seats. The feature of the elections in Ireland, is the extinction of the Irish Liberals. They have not returned a single member to date.

There have been elected 237 Liberals, 193 Tories and 41 Parnellites.

For the first time since the beginning of the election, there is a likelihood of the Liberals exceeding both the Tories and Parnellites. It is admitted that Saturday's vote will decide the contest.

PANAMA, December 2.—It is said here that General Iglesias surrendered to Caceres at 2 p. m. to-day, and that Senor Enselio Sanchez has been named provisional president.

LIMA, December 2, 3 p. m.—Everything has been arranged. A commission has been named to take command of the government and to issue orders for the holding of elections. An amnesty for all, has been declared.

MADRID, December 2.—It has been ascertained that king Alfonso died in debt. His expenses for several years have exceeded the amounts allowed him by the civil list.

FIGHTING AT LIMA.

The Revolution Still Raging in the Streets.

By Cable, via Galveston.

LIMA, Dec. 3.—There was severe fighting in the center of the city, between 10 and 11 o'clock last night. This morning an armistice was agreed upon till midday. The number killed and wounded is unknown, but not great. Much damage to property resulted. Caciques pulled up all payments in the neighborhood of Belvar square and barricaded his troops. He is said to have cannon on the house-top commanding the palace. The conflicting parties have arrived at a settlement and an agreement has been signed that each one of them is to name members of a commission to elect a provisional president, who shall convocate a general election. This arrangement was brought about by a diplomatic corps, where good offices were tendered on Sunday and since then has been in demand by both sides.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

DETROIT, Dec. 3.—There was a continuation of disturbances in the Polish quarter this morning, although the excitement was undiminished. Several thousand women assembled about the church, but no riot followed. The children were dismissed from school in the convent and several hundred of them poured into the street. A crowd of women were crying, "If we cannot have a church we don't want a school." Five women arrested yesterday were fined $3 each to-day. Two paid and the others went to jail for thirty days.

Farmers in Convention.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

INDIANAPOLIS, December 2.—The farmers of the national congress of the United States met here to-day in annual session, with sixty delegates representing eleven states. The president's address asks for three measures for the benefit of the agricultural interests: The restoration of the secretary of agriculture as a government department, the extension of the benefits of the signal service and the suppression of pleuro pneumonia among the cattle of the country. It points out the folly of appropriating millions of money to river and harbor improvements without extending to the agriculturists who comprise fifty-one per cent. of the population, the benefits of a signal service. The congress is a notable one in being composed of a number of the largest and wealthiest planters and farmers of the country.

The National Capital.

By Telegram to THE SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, December 2.—The annual report of General J. D. C. Atkins, commissioner of Indian affairs, recommends the following policy for the accomplishment, by the government, of Indian progress and development. It should be industriously and gravely impressed upon them that they must abandon their tribal relations and take lands in severalty, as the corner stone of their complete success in agriculture, which means self support, personal independence and material thrift.

The government should, however, in order to protect them retain the right to their lands, in trust, for twenty-five years or longer, but issue trust patents at once to such Indians as have taken individual holdings.

When Indians have taken their lands in severalty and in sufficient quantities (and the number of acres in each holding may and should vary in different localities according to fertility or productiveness, climate and other advantages) then having due regard to the immediate and early future needs of the Indians, the remaining lands of the reservation should be purchased by the government and opened to homestead entry at fifty or seventy-five cents per acre. The money paid by the government for their lands, should be held in trust in five per cent. bonds to be invested as congress may provide, for the education, civilization and material development and advance of the red race, reserving for each tribe its own money.

If this policy was adopted systematically by the government it would be strange if in five years from its inauguration and establishment, there should be an Indian of any tribe in the whole country who would refuse to accept so favorable, and advantageous measure.

The report shows that there are in the United States, exclusive of Alaska, about 260,000 Indians. The commissioner presents several theories advanced by various individuals and societies as to the wisest manner of dealing with the Indian question, but makes no recommendations save the one given above.

Reports of the Indian agents at the agencies where courts for the trial of Indian offenses have been established, show that they have been entirely successful and in many cases evidently useful.

Referring to the Indian police the commissioner says: To a great extent they have met the necessities of the situation and have proved valuable aids to the Indian agents, in preventing trespassing and robbery by lawless whites, and in suppressing disorder, violence and licentious resorts, among the more restless of their own people. Many instances of surprising fidelity to the trust reposed in them, under circumstances which would have warranted a white man from his duty, might be related of the Indian policemen.

NOTES.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mrs. Patrick McGee Suddenly Expires at Her Home.

DR. J. T. Bruebach and B. S. Woodworth were lastly summoned to the home of Mrs. Patrick McGee this morning at 10:30 o'clock, but the object of the summons was beyond earthly aid. Mrs. McGee was suddenly stricken ill while about her household duties and without a murmur she dropped to the parlor floor, to die a few moments later in the arms of her daughter. Mrs. McGee was the wife of the late Ex-City Marshal Patrick McGee. She has long suffered from an affection of the brain, but her life has been useful and about her has grown up an estimable family, now sorrow-stricken at the unexpected death of their good mother. Mrs. McGee was dearly beloved and her friends mourn with the grieving family. Her funeral has not been fixed, but will probably occur Sunday. Mrs. McGee leaves six children, who live at the family residence on West Main street. Her only son, Tom McGee, is a clerk in the Pittsburg office.

BADLY BURNED.

Mrs. Larry Markey the Victim of a Severe Accident—Clothes Stolen.

Mrs. Larry Markey, of South Calhoun street, narrowly escaped being burned to death this morning. She was about preparing breakfast when her clothes caught fire from the stove and in a moment the lady was enveloped in flames. Her cries attracted George Markey, the deputy city clerk, who was about to start for his office. He threw shawls and quilts about his mother, stopping the fire, but not till it inflicted painful and almost fatal injuries. Mr. Markey's hands were badly burned and both mother and son are under a physician's care.

To precede this misfortune some one stole $50 worth of clothes from Mr. Markey's line last night and the officers are looking into this theft.

Two of a Kind.

W. F. Richards, the Virginian whose recent romantic marriage to Miss Melissa McCleery occurred at the residence of Mr. John Nell in this city, turns out to be a divorced husband, and probably worse, according to the Cincinnati Tel.

Well, Melissa has a history, too, and the two will be well matched; so don't worry.—Bluffton Chronicle.

The Jeffersonians.

"The Jeffersonian club, of Fort Wayne, was a marked feature of the funeral procession of Mr. Hendricks. The club was 175 strong, each member wearing a silk hat. The Keintz City Band of twenty pieces accompanied them, and the captain and lieutenant were George Finkle and Patrick R. An. In the line were noticed such citizens as Montgomery Hamilton, Col. Charles Munson, the county attorney and county officials and members of the courts," says the Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Walbach road announces that it will recognize no claims for overcharges on shipments made on and after January 1, 1886, based on special rates issued prior to that date, unless special arrangements were made for their renewal before dates of shipment.

We did not know but that our daughter would die every minute from inflammatory rheumatism. I began giving Athletes to her. In two days she was around and did not suffer a pain. Mrs. C. W. Brown, 143 South street, Milwaukee, Wis.
